Rs 4 - Rs 5

Some distinction is necessary
No (1) may be left alone
In No (2) the difference is considerable.
I would reduce Rs 10 to Rs 7, the

From

SIR

With reference to your docket No 375-15-1/2/13 dated 18th July 1904, I have the honour to inform you that private candidates at the Lower Secondary Examination who take Kannada as the compulsory Language pay only Rs 5 or Re 1 more than pupil candidates. The excess is quite justifiable for the purpose of inducing boys of school-going age to attend school.

SC No 1

Pupil candidates 4 in number as compulsory Rs 5-
Private candidates 2 in number as compulsory Rs 10
Total Rs 40-

2 Private candidates who take English as the Compulsory Language at the Lower Secondary Examination pay Rs 10 while pupil candidates pay Rs 5. The fee of the private candidates is the same as has been fixed by the Madras Education Dept

Department. The difference between the use of English in private and that of private candidates in English is great because it is necessary that the rudiments of English should be learnt methodically in school. Few private candidates pass and when they manage to pass they prove to be very indifferent students in the High School Forms. It is necessary in the interest of sound English education to discourage as much as possible private candidates in English.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient servant,
H.J. Saunders
